

ABSTRACT

The invention is a catalytic process using a Group IV B transition metal component and an alumoxane component to polymerize α -olefins to produce high crystallinity and high molecular weight poly- α -olefins.